

```
Like parameters, artifacts can be "passed" to a template as well.
In this example, the 'kubectI-input-artifact' template requires
that an artifact named 'kubectI' is supplied as an input,
which it will place in /usr/local/bin/kubectI. This keeps the # template more composable/flexible, than if the location was # hard-wired inside the template.
apiVersion: argoproj.io/v1alpha1
kind: Workflow
metadata:
  generateName: arguments-artifacts-
  namespace: argo
spec:
  entrypoint: kubectI-input-artifact
  serviceAccountName: training arguments:
    artifacts:
      - name: kubectI
        http:
          url: https://storage.googleapis.com/kubernetes-release/release/v1.8.0/bin/linux/amd64/kubectI

  templates:
    - name: kubectI-input-artifact
      inputs:
        artifacts:
          - name: kubectI
            path: /usr/local/bin/kubectI
            mode: 0755
      container:
        image: debian:9.4
        command: [sh, -c]
        args: ["kubectI version"]
```